The Dining Room has been described as one of the most beautiful in any national park. The massive stone pillars and peeled sugar pine columns (with steel I-beam cores) alternate with the immense 24 foot windows giving the room its grand look and feel. You may be asking yourself, just how big is the Dining Room? Its dimensions come in at an impressive 130 feet long, 51 feet wide, and 34 feet high.

ESTABLISHED 1927

Even though the Dining Room is massive in scale holding about 300 guests, the original plans called for the room to hold 1000 diners. Architect Gilbert Stanley Underwood was instructed to scale the space down to its current size. Ironically, the kitchen had already begun construction and wasn't able to be scaled back in proportion to the Dining Room making the kitchen roughly 50 square feet larger than the Dining Room.
